limelight vs spotlight. limelight vr

Very mediocre product. Looks to have very little effort put into it. MAYBE worth $0.99. Could be quite useful, but everything from the graphics to the controls need a lot more effort put into them. Controllers only sometimes work properly. Audience is laughably poor. I understand the use of reusing models and animations, but it seemed to have only 3 character models and two animations. It's insanely overpriced for what it offers.. Very mediocre product. Looks to have very little effort put into it. MAYBE worth $0.99. I wouldn't say it is INSANELY overpriced - you might want to face your fears of public speaking. The ONLY way to do this is through practice. VR allows a full-immersion into an alternate reality. With Limelight, the potential for practicing public speaking is there - a new unfamiliar space with (virtual) people's attention on you presenting.

Set the audience to neutral. The "positive" audience is silly. There are 3 room sizes - boardroom, classroom & hall. You load your google slides into the presentation for the hall & board room - very neat.

I would like to see more done with this - there's a lot of potential to take this further.

If you're still reading, you probably are trying to conquer your public speaking fear. Here are a few tips: VISUALISATION, VISUALISATION, VISUALISATION! When you prepare a speech, it's not enough to just know it well to eliminate all your jitters - IMAGINE doing the speech AT the venue where you will be speaking. I have done various MC events & before I would get lots of tension. But when you include actually going to the venue & becoming familiar with the environment, you will lose some fear (of the unknown) because you at least know the venue to start with..
